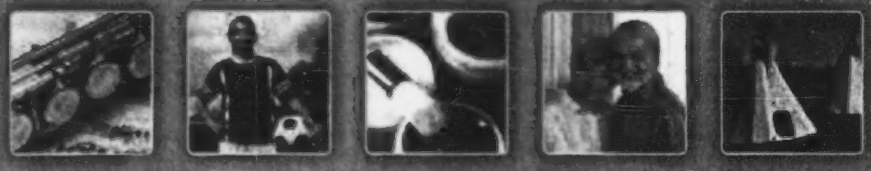
CHARITABLE GAMING IN REVIEW

Making a Difference



AGLC
Alberta Gaming and Liquor Commission
An Agent of the Government of Alberta

Making a Difference

The Alberta Gaming and Liquor Commission (AGLC) is responsible for licensing and regulating charitable gaming in Alberta. In accordance with the Gaming and Liquor Act, the Gaming and Liquor Regulation, and the Criminal Code (Canada), the AGLC's mandate is to:

- License, regulate and monitor gaming and liquor activities in Alberta;
- Define operating policies and procedures for gaming and liquor activities;
- Ensure integrity and social responsibility in the operation of gaming and liquor activities;
- Collect gaming and liquor revenue;
- Ensure business and program operations run efficiently and effectively;
- Disburse provincial lottery revenues;
- With industry and government, develop and implement programs and services to address problem gambling and promote responsible alcohol consumption; and
- Communicate to gaming and liquor stakeholders accurate and timely information.

Only licensed charitable or religious groups may conduct charitable gaming activities in Canada. This annual review provides information and reporting on the charitable aspects of Alberta's gaming model including:

- What is charitable;
- The Gaming Information for Charitable Groups (GAIN) program;
- Which groups are eligible for gaming licences;
- How to become a charitable gaming licensee;
- How charitable gaming funds are used;
- The amount generated by charities from each gaming activity; and
- How the province maintains the integrity of gaming activities.

All the reference material cited in this publication, such as specific terms and conditions for each gaming activity, is available on the AGLC website at aglc.ca.

The charitable component of our gaming model provides charitable and religious groups with the opportunity to benefit directly from gaming activities. Proceeds (revenues less expenses) from licensed charitable gaming events are earned by the charities that conduct the events.

Each year, thousands of charities and non-profit groups across the province continue to volunteer their time conducting bingos and casinos (table games), selling pull-tickets, and holding raffles – activities that contribute valuable dollars to making a difference in Alberta communities.

Message from the CEO

In 2010-11, I am pleased to report that almost $300 million was returned directly to Alberta's charitable organizations from revenue generated by charitable gaming (bingo, casinos, pull-ticket and raffle events). This is just one of the ways Alberta supports its non-profit/voluntary sector and ensures proceeds are reinvested back into communities throughout Alberta.

It's the AGLC's responsibility to license and regulate all charitable gaming activities, and to make sure these gaming activities are conducted with integrity. Last year we issued over 13,800 charitable gaming licences – that works out to more than 37 licences a day! The AGLC also inspects licensed gaming facilities and events to ensure these gaming activities meet legislation, regulation and policy. Our 2010-11 results show that in 99.2% of cases, inspectors found charitable gaming activities to be in compliance with legislation and policy.

We're also pleased to support Alberta's volunteers by continuing to offer the GAIN program. The Gaming Information for Charitable Groups (GAIN) program provides information about charitable gaming in Alberta through specific sessions regarding licensing, use of proceeds and casino information for charitable groups. In 2010-11, over 3,400 participants attended GAIN sessions throughout the province. Survey results show that Albertans continue to be very satisfied with the program, with 99% rating it as being either good or excellent. For more information, see page 8.

I would like to applaud the dedication exhibited by Alberta's charities in 2010-11, and we at the AGLC look forward to working with charitable groups to ensure the charitable gaming model continues to benefit communities in the future.

Overview

Charitable Gaming Revenue to Charities

Gaming revenues fluctuate depending on the amount of money Albertans are willing to spend on gaming activities. As charities directly benefit from the charitable gaming activities they participate in, the net proceeds charities receive each year also fluctuates. In 2010-11, 11,901 charities earned almost $300 million through charitable gaming activities such as bingos, casinos, pull-tickets and raffles.

Introduction

What is Charitable?

Four criteria are used to determine what constitutes a charitable or religious object or purpose. They are:

- Relief of poverty;
- Advancement of education;
- Advancement of religion; and
- Other purposes beneficial to the community.

For further clarification on all four criteria, please refer to the AGLC's Charitable Gaming Policies Handbook available on the website at aglc.ca.

Charitable groups can apply to participate in four types of licensed gaming activities:

- Bingo;
- Casino (table games);
- Pull-Ticket; and
- Raffle.

Charitable Gaming Proceeds

Proceeds (revenues less expenses) from licensed charitable gaming events go directly to the charities that conduct the events. These proceeds are used to support community projects and initiatives for non-profit and volunteer organizations throughout Alberta. Charitable and religious groups conducting a casino event keep the proceeds from the table games, less a service fee for the facility operator. In a similar fashion, charities keep all the proceeds they earn from bingos, raffles and pull-ticket sales after operating expenses.

Charities also receive a portion of the revenues from slot machines, electronic bingo and Keno. Charities pay event licensing fees to the AGLC.

It can take up to seven months after the completion of a raffle, pull-ticket, or community bingo event for the event data to be submitted to and reviewed by the AGLC. This is the normal timeframe given the numerous stages of the process involved. Various delays may be encountered which may lengthen this timeframe. As such, this report is based on the following data:

- Bingos: data is based on the current fiscal year for bingo events conducted at licensed bingo facilities and prior year data for bingo events conducted at community bingo facilities. Data from community bingos with gross sales under $2,500 is not included.
- Casinos: data is based on the current fiscal year. The total amount wagered on casino table games includes the total poker rake from poker table games (Maximum of $5 per hand) and tournaments (10 per cent). The operator's fee from the poker rake is included under the expense column.
- Pull-Ticket: for 2008-09 and 2009-10, data is based on the current fiscal year for pull-tickets sold at licensed bingo facilities and prior year data for pull-tickets sold in all other locations. For 2007-08 and prior years, data is based on the prior fiscal year for all locations.
- Raffles: data is based on the current fiscal year for raffles with gross sales under $10,000 and prior year information for raffles with gross sales over $10,000.

Charitable Gaming Integrity

All gaming activities must comply with the Criminal Code (Canada), the Gaming and Liquor Act, Gaming and Liquor Regulation, and AGLC policies. Albertans trust the AGLC to protect the integrity and maintain accountability in Alberta's gaming activities.

To achieve this, the AGLC works with charitable groups and the gaming industry to ensure that everyone who participates in a licensed gaming event has a fair chance to win and that events are carried out in accordance with the policies that govern them. AGLC inspectors visit gaming sites and perform random checks of activities to ensure that rules are being followed.

If the rules are not being followed, the inspector prepares a report and informs the group. Depending of the severity of an infraction, disciplinary action by the Board of the AGLC may take place – ranging from warnings to suspension or cancellation of licences. The AGLC also monitors the gaming industry and charitable gaming licensees to help maintain financial integrity. Audits help ensure that gaming proceeds are used for approved purposes and that gaming operations and record-keeping processes comply with legislative and policy requirements.

Reporting Requirements

Financial reporting is required for every gaming licence including reporting how gaming proceeds are used. A separate financial report is required for each licence. Groups must account for the proceeds as well as interest, dividends and other income earned on the proceeds. The AGLC mails financial reports to each charity, which the group must complete and return within 60 days from the date of mailing.

Gaming proceeds must be used within two years after the proceeds are obtained. Any extension of this period must be approved in advance by the AGLC. If a charity wants to use the proceeds for purposes other than those in its original application, the charity is required to obtain the approval of the AGLC before it spends the proceeds for the new purposes. This ensures the proposed new use of funds is in accordance with the Criminal Code of Canada and reflects a use that is charitable or religious in nature.

If gaming proceeds are used for unapproved purposes, the AGLC will investigate and may require the funds be returned to gaming accounts. All records must be kept for a period of two years after the licence expires. More information about financial reporting is available on the AGLC website at aglc.ca.

Online Information

The AGLC provides a variety of licensing services to groups on-line through a web account. Applying for a web account is easy and, once approved, groups are sent a User ID and password via email. An internet Account Request Form (Form 5536) is available on the AGLC website at aglc.ca. Once registered for a web account, groups can do the following on-line:

- View their gaming licence(s);
- View their consolidated bank account information;
- View their current registration contact list;
- View their current "Use of Proceeds" information;
- Register for GAIN sessions; and
- Submit their financial report (for raffles under $10,000).

Eligible charitable and religious organizations can also now apply for raffle licences under $10,000 online using their AGLC Internet account. Previously, groups received these licences only through Alberta Registry Agents. The online option is provided at no cost and offers greater convenience.

Social Responsibility

The AGLC is committed to ensuring the gaming industry in Alberta is operated in a socially responsible manner. By providing information and resources to those people who choose to gamble, the AGLC ensures they have the information they need to make informed decisions which supports the development of healthy and sustainable gambling environments.

We work collaboratively with industry, government and stakeholders to provide information and support to charitable gaming staff, groups and patrons. The AGLC has Responsible Gambling Information Centers in gaming facilities across Alberta that offer responsible gambling information and support to gaming staff and patrons.

The AGLC also offers responsible gambling training programs such as: Deal Us In for Casino and REC staff and A Good Call for staff in licensed bingo facilities. Information on all of the AGLC's responsible gambling programs that help prevent and reduce gambling-related harm are available on the AGLC website at aglc.ca.

Eligibility

What Groups are Eligible?

The Criminal Code (Canada) requires that groups participating in charitable gaming are charitable or religious in nature and that the proceeds be directed to charitable or religious purposes.

The province's Gaming and Liquor Act, Gaming and Liquor Regulation, and its gaming policies establish the standards for conducting gaming activities; this includes which groups may be eligible for gaming licences and how they may use the gaming proceeds. There are three key components the AGLC considers when assessing a group's eligibility for gaming licensing:

- Structure – Is it broad-based and democratic?
- Program Delivery – How long have programs or services been offered? How do the group's programs or services benefit the community?
- Use of Proceeds – How will the money be spent? Only non-profit groups are eligible for charitable gaming licences.

In addition, eligible groups must:

- Have a broad-based volunteer membership;
- Have an executive democratically chosen from its membership;
- Have unpaid members, directors or officers;
- Have programs which benefit a large segment of the community, not the individual members' self interest;
- Have members who are responsible for establishing, maintaining control of and delivering the group's programs; and
- Be incorporated (except for raffles with a total ticket value of $10,000 or less).

Eligible groups must have actively delivered a charitable program to the community for at least one year before applying for a gaming licence. For casino event applicants, an active record of program delivery for the previous 24 months is required. For bingo applicants and applicants for a raffle with a total ticket value of more than $100,000, an active record of program delivery for the previous 12 months is required. The record of program delivery requirement is to ensure eligible groups have pre-existing support in the community and do not rely solely on gaming funds for program delivery.

Gaming proceeds are intended to supplement the charitable activities of eligible groups rather than serve as a primary source of funding. For a summary of the different eligible group types, please see the Eligible Groups Summary beginning on page 9.

Obtaining a Licence

To participate in charitable gaming activities, groups that meet the eligibility requirements must first apply for a charitable gaming licence. Charitable gaming licence forms are available on the AGLC website at aglc.ca. Licence forms can also be obtained by calling the AGLC toll-free at 1-800-272-8876 or 780-310-0000.

A separate application is required for each licence type (bingo, casino, raffle or pull-ticket) and supporting documents must be attached. Once complete, forms can be faxed to the AGLC at 780-447-8912 or mailed to:

Alberta Gaming and Liquor Commission
Regulatory Division
50 Corriveau Avenue
St. Albert, Alberta T8N 3T5

Once an application is received, the information is reviewed to determine if the group is eligible for a charitable gaming licence. The eligibility of all applicants is based on the eligibility criteria for organizational structure, program delivery and use of gaming proceeds as outlined in the Charitable Gaming Policies Handbook, which is available on our website at aglc.ca.

Groups are encouraged to ensure their application provides as much detail as possible and that the application is complete. If eligibility cannot be determined by a review of the information provided in the submitted application, additional information may be requested and an AGLC representative may meet with your group or conduct other inquiries to complete a more detailed eligibility review.

The AGLC works to review and process all applications for gaming licences within 12 weeks of receipt of a complete application. Processing applications and determining eligibility may take longer if the submitted application information is incomplete or a more detailed review is required to determine eligibility. Once a group obtains a gaming licence and becomes a charitable gaming licensee, it receives an information package from the AGLC that includes information on conducting events in accordance with the terms and conditions.

Information for Charitable Groups

The AGLC offers information sessions for groups seeking information on charitable gaming in Alberta. Gaming Information for Charitable Groups (GAIN) sessions are free information seminars that provide volunteers of charitable and religious groups with the opportunity find out about charitable gaming activities and ask questions. GAIN continues to be very well received and in 2010-11 program facilitators provided 210 sessions in 44 communities to over 3,445 participants.

GAIN information sessions cover:

What you need to know before a gaming event:

- Legislative and regulatory requirements of charitable gaming in Alberta;
- Eligibility for gaming licences;
- The licensing application process;
- Eligible use of proceeds; and
- Requirements to hold a charitable gaming event.

What you need to know during a gaming event:

- Conduct of a gaming event – Bingo, Casino, Pull-Ticket, and Raffle.

What you need to know after a gaming event:

- Financial reporting requirements.

GAIN sessions are offered for the following four topics:

- Use of gaming proceeds sessions;
- Combined charitable gaming licensing and use of proceeds sessions;
- Casino sessions; and
- Special sessions, (e.g., conference and convention presentations), available upon request.

For information about the GAIN program, phone 780-447-7499 or 1-866-307-7499 or visit the AGLC's website at aglc.ca.

Uses of Proceeds

Allowable Uses of Proceeds

Proceeds raised from charitable gaming must be used for approved charitable or religious purposes. Part of the proceeds may be used to pay for prizes and other expenses related to operating the event. The remainder of the gaming proceeds must be used for the charitable or religious purposes stated in the charitable group's licence application.

To change the use of proceeds, groups are required to submit a written request to the AGLC in advance, and if approved, the group's licence will be updated accordingly. Once a group has held its event, the gaming proceeds must be deposited into a separate gaming account. With prior approval from the AGLC, groups may consolidate all gaming proceeds into a single account if it conducts more than one type of event (e.g., bingo and casino). A group has two years to use gaming proceeds from the time it receives the funds. If a group requires an extension of the two year period, a request for extension must be submitted to the AGLC along with a supporting business plan. The business plan must include:

- A written explanation as to why the proceeds have accumulated beyond 24 months;
- Any other sources of revenue associated with the planned project or event;
- A list of expenditures associated with the planned project or event; and
- Timelines for the anticipated disbursement of the accumulated proceeds.

Bingo licensees that operate at halls with electronic bingo also receive a portion of the proceeds from electronic bingo and Keno through a grant from the Alberta Lottery Fund. Gaming proceeds also include interest, dividends or other income earned.

Starting on the next page is a list of allowable uses of gaming proceeds. For more information, please check the Charitable Gaming Policies Handbook or Host First Nations Charitable Casino Policies Handbook on the AGLC website at aglc.ca or contact the Regulatory Division of the AGLC (contact numbers are listed on page 36 and 37).

Allowable uses of proceeds for both traditional charities and First Nations charities are similar; however, they may be categorized differently between the two. For example, while there are separate categories for Equipment, Uniforms/ Costumes and Vehicle Purchase/Repairs/Operation for traditional charities, there is only one category for Equipment, Uniforms, First Nations Regalia and Vehicles for First Nations charities. Even though they are categorized differently, the intent behind the policies is the same. In addition, the Host First Nations Charitable Casino Policies Handbook allows for uses of proceeds that address the specific needs of Alberta's Host First Nations. For example, additional uses include proceeds for Housing and Infrastructure or costs incurred by Elders while performing charitable or religious activities. Eligible Elders' costs include: honorariums, fees or gifts, ceremonial tobacco, direct-route travel to various events, meals while attending events, accommodation fees while attending events, and training costs of new elders.

Allowable Uses of Proceeds Summary

The following table is provided as a high level overview of the types of allowable uses of proceeds and is not intended to provide all ineligible uses of proceeds. Uses of Proceeds by Charitable Groups

The proceeds from charitable gaming help support thousands of programs and services provided by charities to their communities. These proceeds are earned by groups that conduct gaming activities.

The following table summarizes how charitable and religious groups used the proceeds from gaming activities between 2005-06 and 2009-10. As charities have two years to use the funds they earned from gaming events, the proceeds reported in the table below will not equal the proceeds received by charities in those years.

Since charities report on their use of proceeds on an ongoing basis, complete data for 2010-11 is not yet available. Data for 2010-11 will be reported in the 2011-12 Charitable Gaming in Review report. Data for First Nations use of proceeds from casino events appears on page 18 of this report, and is not included in the information below.

Allowable Uses of First Nation Casino Proceeds

The Host First Nation (HFN) licensed charity conducts the casino events and the HFN charity and sub-charities receive proceeds from these events. These proceeds help support many programs and services provided to the First Nations Communities. Since Host First Nation licensed charities report on their use of proceeds on an ongoing basis, complete data for 2010-11 is not yet available. Data for 2010-11 will be reported on in the 2011-12 Charitable Gaming in Review report. Data for the use of proceeds by all other charities appears on page 16 of this report.

Bingo

Highlights

In 2010-11, 25,360 bingo events generated gross revenues of $128.1 million across the province. Of this amount, $84.2 million was returned to bingo players as prizes and $40.2 million was spent by charities for event expenses, leaving net proceeds of $3.7 million. Charities received an additional $7.9 million from electronic bingo and Keno proceeds, for a combined total of $11.6 million. Approximately 69 per cent of bingo proceeds in Alberta were generated in licensed bingo facilities (28 association bingo halls and one private operator bingo hall).

Overview

In Alberta, bingo may be conducted in an association, private operator or community bingo facility.

Association Bingo Facility (Class A Licence)

This category is for a facility licence to an association made up of member charities that are eligible for a bingo licence. The facility operates at least four days a week. The association coordinates bingos for its members. Licensed charities in bingo association halls may be approved to sell pull-tickets or offer electronic bingo or Keno. Electronic bingo allows players to play their bingo game electronically. Keno is a provincial lottery ticket product with draws held every five minutes. Minors are not allowed in halls offering electronic bingo or Keno.

The licensed charities provide volunteers for key financial positions during the bingo, including bingo chairperson, paymaster, bonanza controller and special games controller. The following are usually paid positions at association halls: caller, hall advisor, cashier, hall manager, pull-ticket manager and bookkeeper.

Bingo associations pool bingo and Keno proceeds monthly and allocate the proceeds among member charities according to the number of events per charity. Each association, through a pool agreement signed by all members, may decide to establish one pool for all events or separate pools for morning, afternoon, evening and late night events. Proceeds from pull ticket sales are pooled quarterly. There were 28 bingo association halls in the province as of March 31, 2011. Groups interested in joining a bingo association should contact the AGLC to be placed on a central registry waiting list for their region. Bingo associations seeking new members should contact the AGLC for names of interested charities.

Private Operator Bingo Facility (Class B Licence)

In a private operator bingo facility, the private operator, under contract with the charities of a bingo society, supplies the space and services that enable charities to conduct their licensed bingo events. In keeping with Alberta's charitable gaming model, bingo events held in a Class B facility must be conducted and managed by licensed charities. Like licensed charities in an association bingo hall, licensed charities conducting bingo events in a private operator hall may be approved to sell pull-tickets or offer electronic bingo or Keno. Minors are not allowed in halls offering electronic bingo or Keno.

The licensed charities provide volunteers for key financial positions during the bingo, including bingo chairperson, paymaster, bonanza controller and special games controller. The following are usually paid positions of the Class B Operator: games manager, caller, cashier, hall manager, and pull-ticket manager. Additionally, the licensed charity employs an Independent Hall Advisor to assist with the conduct of the bingo event.

Bingo societies pool bingo and Keno proceeds monthly and allocate the proceeds among member charities according to the number of events per charity. Each society, through a pool agreement signed by all members, must establish one pool for all events. There was one private operator bingo hall in the province as of March 31, 2011. Groups interested in joining a bingo society should contact the AGLC to be placed on a central registry waiting list for their region. Bingo societies seeking new members should contact the AGLC for names of interested charities.

Community Bingo Hall

This category includes bingos held three times per week or less at a small community hall, seniors' centre or church hall. Unlike association bingo, bingos conducted in a community hall are generally conducted by a single charity, so the charity receives all the proceeds from the event. Key positions filled by volunteers include bingo chairperson, bonanza and special games controller, and paymaster. Community bingo licensees may pay a caller and a cashier. There were 241 community bingo licensees in 2010-11.

Bingo Proceeds Restatement for 2008-09 and 2009-10

Prior to 2008-09, publications of the Charitable Gaming in Review (CGIR) classified bingo information as Regular, Satellite or DIGI. Beginning in 2008-09, bingo proceeds were reclassified as either from licensed bingo facilities (bingo associations and private operators) or community bingo facilities. To accommodate this change, the "Electronic Proceeds" stated for bingo throughout this report includes both the electronic bingo commissions to charities and proceeds distributed through the Alberta Lottery Fund, and not the proceeds distributed through the Alberta Lottery Fund alone.

As the 2008-09 and 2009-10 publications of the CGIR overstated the amount of the DIGI charity commission, this publication restates those numbers to reflect the change in classification.

Casino

Highlights

In 2010-11, casino table games in Alberta generated gross revenues of $971.8 million and returned $785.3 million in prizes to players. Charities paid $119.2 million in event expenses to casino facility operators, advisors, trustees and others for their services related to table games. Charities received $67.3 million from casino table gaming. An additional $163.3 million from slot machines and Keno was provided to charities, for a total of $230.6 million.

Overview

In Alberta, casino gaming is conducted in traditional casinos and First Nation casinos and includes table games and slot machines. Casino facilities in Alberta are licensed by the AGLC. As of March 31, 2011, there were 24 permanent casino facilities consisting of 19 traditional casinos and 5 First Nation casinos.

Traditional Casinos

In traditional casinos, the casino operator provides the facility, gaming expertise and gaming materials (cards, tables, chips, etc.) for the event. Charities require a licence from the AGLC to conduct the casino event. Generally, a casino event hosted by a charity runs for two days.

The charity provides volunteers for key financial positions during the event and earns proceeds from the table games. The volunteer positions are: general manager, banker, cashier, count room supervisor, chip runner and count room staff (counter, sorters, amalgamator). The casino facility provides a casino games manager who is directly responsible to the charity's general manager. The casino games manager supervises the games area in the casino and ensures that activities follow the Casino Terms and Conditions & Operating Guidelines. Licensed charities also hire independent casino advisors to help them with their event. Net proceeds (sales less prizes and event expenses) from table games are pooled and distributed to the participating charities quarterly. Volunteers have no direct role in the operation of slot machines during the casino.

The Criminal Code (Canada) requires a provincial authority, i.e., the AGLC, to manage electronic gaming devices. Charities receive a 15 per cent commission on net sales from slot machines during their casino events. The facility operator also earns a 15 per cent commission and the remaining 70 per cent is transferred to the Alberta Lottery Fund after AGLC's operating costs are deducted. Charities receive a five per cent commission on gross sales from Keno. The facility operator also earns a five per cent commission on gross sales from Keno and a two per cent commission on redemptions. The remainder is transferred to the Alberta Lottery Fund after AGLC operating costs and prize liabilities are deducted. For more information about the Alberta Lottery Fund, see albertalotteryfund.ca.

Charities are required to hold casino events in a facility within their designated region in the province. For example, only licensed charities in Edmonton and Calgary and charities that operate province-wide may hold casinos in those cities. A charity in a rural area may conduct events at the nearest regional casino facility. The only exception is the Century Casino in Calgary, which serves charities in nearby rural communities. All proceeds from charitable casino events, including slot machine net proceeds, are pooled quarterly by region and divided among the charities involved during the time period.

First Nation Casinos

The Host First Nation (HFN) is the casino facility operator and provides the facility, gaming expertise and gaming materials (cards, tables, chips, etc.) for the event. The HFN licensed charity also requires a licence from the AGLC to conduct the casino event. Generally, HFN licensed charities are issued a licence for 364 one-day casino events. The HFN and the HFN licensed charity are two separate and distinct organizations. Proceeds from First Nation casinos support charitable and religious purposes in the HFN community. HFN licensed charities may provide proceeds to sub-charities, if the sub-charity's proposed use of proceeds comply with the policies set out in the Host First Nation Charitable Casino Policies Handbook.

The HFN licensed charity receives the net proceeds (sales less prizes and event expenses) from table games. Charity workers have no direct role in the operation of slot machines during the casino. The Criminal Code (Canada) requires a provincial authority, i.e., the AGLC, to manage electronic gaming devices. The HFN licensed charity receives a 15 per cent commission on net sales from slot machines during its events. The HFN (casino facility operator) also earns a 15 per cent commission. The remaining 70 per cent is transferred to the Alberta Lottery Fund after the AGLC's operating costs are deducted. The HFN licensed charity receives a five per cent commission on gross sales from Keno. The HFN (casino facility operator) also earns a five per cent commission on gross sales from Keno and a two per cent commission on redemptions. The remainder is transferred to the Alberta Lottery Fund after AGLC operating costs and prize liabilities are deducted. Pull-Tickets

Highlights

Gross sales from pull-tickets generated $76.3 million in 2010-11 and returned $53.0 million in prizes to players. Charities paid $5.4 million in related expenses and earned $17.9 million in proceeds.

Overview

Pull-tickets – also called Nevada or break-open tickets – are an instant-win ticket. They have sealed windows or pull-tabs that open to reveal symbols, letters or numbers that correspond with a specific prize.

Generally, groups licensed to sell pull-tickets must sell them from the premises where they provide services to the community in order to ensure that the charity carefully controls sales and protects ticket security. Because of this requirement, usually veteran, fraternal, sport and community associations are eligible to sell pull-tickets.

The AGLC also allows charities to sell pull-tickets from their program kiosks at shopping malls. Charities conducting events at licensed bingo halls can also sell pull-tickets during their licensed bingo events. In this case, the proceeds are pooled monthly and allocated among the charities conducting bingo events during the period. The charity must arrange to buy its pull-tickets from a supplier registered with the AGLC. Tickets can only be sold by the charity and its volunteers.

Raffles

Highlights

In 2010-11, raffles generated $131.6 million in gross sales and returned $60.1 million in prizes to players. Charities paid $32.1 million in related expenses and earned $39.4 million in proceeds from these raffles.

Overview

A raffle is a lottery where prizes are awarded based on a random draw of tickets purchased by players. Prizes for raffles must be at least 20 per cent and expenses no more than 30 per cent of the total ticket value. Only approved expenses required to conduct the raffle may be deducted. Only licensed charitable or religious groups can conduct raffles. Examples of raffles are: 50/50 draws, home lotteries, car and cash raffles, and sports raffles such as hockey pools.

There are two types of licences: one for raffles with a total ticket value greater than $10,000, and one for raffles under $10,000. Eligibility for both types of raffle licences is determined by the AGLC. The AGLC issues licences for raffles with the larger ticket value, while Alberta registry agents can issue licences for the smaller amounts. Eligible charitable and religious organizations can also apply for raffle licences under $10,000 online using their AGLC Internet account. For more information on the AGLC internet account see page 6 of this report. Charities must be registered with the AGLC for both kinds of raffles.
